

An AI-driven course scheduling assistant that helps students build personalized, conflict-free schedules. The system combines a chatbot interface for natural interaction with a calendar visualization for easy planning. Built with a modern web frontend and a multi-agent backend using Google's Agent Development Kit (ADK), it interprets student preferences, retrieves course data, and generates optimized schedules in real time.

